

Logo File Usage

EPS An EPS is a vector file format that's often used in high-quality printing, like billboards and large posters.

PNG A PNG is a type of image file that can be used in any program. It's the image format of choice for the web and supports transparency.

SVG An SVG is a vector file format that's used for web because it's code based. It's also the preferred filetype for Figma.